

01. 가로막다

As people flocked to the spot where the accident happened to watch, the police blocked them.

02. 교통 ☆

The traffic in my neighborhood wasn't good, but a subway was built a little while ago, so the traffic problem was solved.

03. 국토

A lot of Korea's land is mountainous, so there are many tunnels on the roads.

04. 기사

My father retired from his job and now works as a taxi driver.

BACKGROUND KNOWLEDGE ▲

Drivers are called different things depending on the mode of transportation. Let's review.

- 버스/택시/트럭 Bus/taxi/truck: 기사 driver
- 비행기 Airplane: 조종사 pilot
- 지하철/기차 Subway/train: 기관사 engineer

05. 넓히다

The Ministry of Land, Infrastructure, and Transport decided to widen the roads that are always blocked up during rush hour by next June.

06. 면허

If you don't have a driver's license, you can't drive.

07. 바퀴

As I was driving, I heard the sound of my car wheel popping and the car shook a lot, so I felt very panicked.

08. 밟다

I was driving when the traffic signal changed to a red light, so I stepped on the brake in order to stop.

09. 선

When parking, you must take care not to go over the parking space lines.

EXAM TIP ▲

Let's talk about a word that comes up a lot: “차선.”

- 차선 Lane: Refers to a line drawn on the road following the direction in which cars travel.

e.g. 차선을 바꾸고 싶을 때는 미리 방향 지시등을 켜야 한다.

When you want to change lanes, you should turn on your turn signal first.

10. 설치(하다)

The government installed additional streetlights on roads where the number of lights was insufficient.

11. 수단

Lately, there are many people who commute by personal means of transport such as electric scooters or electric bikes instead of cars.

12. 승객

The bus stopped suddenly, so a passenger inside fell over.

13. 시야

The plane that flew into the sky from the airport disappeared from sight as it grew higher and farther away.

14. 안전벨트

When you get into a car, the first thing you should do is buckle your seatbelt.

15. 양보(하다)

There are pink seats on the subway in Korea, and these should be yielded to pregnant and postpartum women.

16. 운행(하다) ☆

If you want to know the hours of operation of the Seoul subway, search for the subway station name on the website.

17. 원활하다 ☆

An hour ago, I couldn't move because the road in front of the house was full of traffic, but now things are moving smoothly.

18. 위반(하다)

If you violate a traffic signal, you must pay a fine.

19. 이동(하다) ☆

It takes 2 hours less to travel from Seoul to Busan by high-speed KTX train than by car.

20. 인도

Separate bicycle lanes were created because it's dangerous for bicycles to travel in car lanes or on the sidewalk.

21. 정체(하다)

The area near the spring flower festival saw extreme congestion from residents going home after the festival.

22. 중단(하다)

Flights were suspended because of the typhoon.

23. 지연(하다)

Due to a problem with the airplane, departure was delayed for about 2 hours and 180 passengers experienced discomfort.

24. 지점

The police installed cameras at the spot where accidents often occurred to prevent accidents.

BACKGROUND KNOWLEDGE ▲

Let's learn about “국가 지점 번호 (domestic place numbers),” which appear on exams.

A domestic place number is a number that indicates a location in a place with no buildings or roads, like a mountain or the ocean. These numbers were created so that rescue could be quickly deployed when an accident suddenly occurs, so when climbing a high mountain, it's good to remember the “domestic place number.”

25. 차량

When you buy a new car, you have to register your vehicle with the government and get vehicle license plates.

26. 철도

A train is passing by on the railroad.

27. 통제(하다)

Traffic will be restricted in the Seoul downtown due to the Seoul Marathon that will be held this Sunday.

28. 통행(하다)

Beginning next week, all vehicular passage on this road will be restricted due to construction. Please use another road.

29. 확장(하다)

The government decided to expand the 3-lane road to 6 lanes in order to solve rush hour traffic problems.
