

01. 긍정적 ☆

They say that if you smile a lot and think positive, good things will happen.

EXAM TIP ▲

Aff -적: Attaches after a noun and indicates having the characteristics or being in the state of that noun.

e.g. 긍정적 positive, 부정적 negative, 내성적 introverted,
문화적 cultural, 일반적 general

02. 까다롭다

My friend has picky taste, so when he travels abroad, he can't eat the local food well.

03. 꼼꼼하다

Before she travels, my friend does a lot of research and makes plans meticulously.

04. 내성적

For people who have introverted personalities, a job where they can be alone and focus is better than one where they meet a lot of people.

05. 냉정하다

My friend kept asking me to lend him money so I coldly said that I couldn't.

06. 둔하다

My friend is obtuse so even if I cut my hair, she doesn't see what's different.

07. 매력

I feel the appeal of dancing, so I go dancing 4 times a week.

08. 부정적 ☆

Stress has very negative effects on health.

EXAM TIP ▲

Let's review words that are used with “긍정적” and “부정적,” which appear very frequently on exams.

- 긍정적 + 영향 effect, 태도 attitude, 생각 thinking,
- 부정적 + 결과 result, 반응 response

09. 사교적

I'm the social type, so I have a lot of friends and know a lot of people.

10. 선하다

I believe that all children have kind hearts.

11. 성급하다

I answered rashly without hearing the end of the question so I was wrong.

12. 성실하다

My friend is a diligent student who has never been late or absent to school once and studies hard.

13. 소극적

I was a passive student who didn't answer often in class and whose face turned red when the teacher asked me questions.

14. 신중하다

I'm a careful person so no matter what it is, I think a lot before I make a decision.

15. 악하다

That movie is a story about people joining forces to defend the town from evil villains.

16. 엉뚱하다

Kids who think that when people are sleeping, their toys talk and play are whimsical and cute.

17. 예의

In Korea, greeting an adult while wearing a hat is bad manners.

BACKGROUND KNOWLEDGE ▲

Korean people have long thought etiquette is important, and always have used “높임말 (honorific speech)” to be polite depending on the situation or the person. Additionally, Korean people don't often use “당신,” “그,” “그녀,” etc. -words like the English “you,” “he,” or “she.” This is because it's thought to be more polite to call someone by their name or title.

18. 완벽(하다)

My friend is the kind of person who perfectly plans for what to eat, what the weather will be, what to bring, etc. before she travels.

19. 용감하다

I think that soldiers who protect their country are really brave.

20. 용기

I gathered my courage and confessed to the person I like.

21. 이기적

Selfish people who only think of themselves don't even think about the troubles of others.

EXAM TIP ▲

Aff -심: Attaches after a noun and indicates "mind" or "heart."

e.g. 이기심 selfishness, 경쟁심 competitiveness,
배려심 thoughtfulness

22. 자상하다

My father is a considerate person who smiles and explains when I ask him about something I don't know.

23. 장점 ☆

My friend's strong point is that she always thinks positively about everything.

24. 적극적 ☆

I participate actively in class, always answering first out loud when my teacher asks a question.

25. 집착(하다)

I'm obsessed with winning sports games, so if my team loses a match, I'm upset for several days.

26. 차분하다

Even when something makes her angry, my mother doesn't get excited and speaks calmly.

27. 참을성

When I was young, I didn't have enough patience so I got angry easily.

28. 침착하다

When an accident occurs, you shouldn't get flustered and should act calmly.

29. 평범하다

Rather than having a lot of money and living as a famous person, I want to live an ordinary life doing what I like to do.

30. 호기심

When a curious child wants to know about something, they like to try it for themselves.
