

01. 격려(하다)

I bought delicious food in order to encourage my little sister who's preparing for her college entrance exam.

02. 경계(하다)

Because many accidents easily occur on construction sites, you must wear a safety helmet and be alert for accidents.

03. 권유(하다)

The doctor advised the patient to exercise three times or more each week.

04. 망설이다

I wanted to contact the person I like, but I was shy so I hesitated between contacting them or not.

05. 반대(하다)

I want to go to grad school and study more, but my parents oppose my opinion.

06. 반박하다

He posted a rebuttal to social media saying that the rumors about him dating an actress were false.

EXAM TIP ▲

Let's compare the words "반대하다" and "반박하다," which have similar meanings.

- 반대하다: Used when someone is against an action or an opinion alike.

e.g. 사랑하는 사람과의 결혼을 부모님께서 반대하십니다. My parents oppose my marriage to the person I love.

- 반박하다: Used when someone is against what someone says, like an argument, opinion, etc.

e.g. 어렸을 때 외국어를 배워야 한다는 나의 주장에 대해 반박하는 사람들이 많았다. There were many people who refuted my argument that you should learn a foreign language when you're young.

07. 반응(하다)

As soon as the singer Park Jeongwu's new song came out, it reached number 1 and is receiving a good response.

08. 배려(하다)

My friend Michael is a warm-hearted friend who always considers others first.

09. 비판(하다)

Before criticizing another person's mistake, I should think first about whether I've done anything wrong too.

10. 설득(하다)

I hadn't considered studying abroad but my parents talked about the good points and convinced me.

EXAM TIP ▲

Aff -력: Attaches after a noun and indicates the ability or power to do something.

e.g. 설득력 persuasive power, 생활력 economic power, 경제력 ability to maintain one's livelihood

11. 염려(하다)

My parents worried that something bad might happen when I said I was going to travel abroad alone.

12. 예상(하다)

I expect that I'll do well on the exam because I studied hard this semester.

13. 외면(하다)

I ran into a friend who I fought with yesterday and we both turned away from each other and passed by.

14. 요구(하다)

At the restaurant, the food I ordered came out wrong so I requested that they change it.

15. 우려(하다)

There's a cold going around lately and I'm concerned that even more students will get it when the semester starts soon.

EXAM TIP ▲

Let's review similar vocabulary words that are used when you feel worried.

- 염려(하다): Frequently used when you're worried about something unknown happening in the future.

e.g. 내가 처음 운전을 시작했을 때 부모님께서 사고가 나지 않을까 염려하셨다. When I first started driving, my parents worried that I might have an accident.

- 우려(하다): Frequently used when you're worried that something bad might happen in the future because of a negative situation in the present.

e.g. 비가 너무 많이 내려서 홍수가 날까 봐 우려하는 사람들이 많다. The rain is so heavy that there are many people who are concerned that there might be a flood.

16. 위로(하다)

A friend who comforted me with kind words when I was having trouble has stayed in my memory for a long time.

17. 유도(하다) ☆

The teacher induced a quiet atmosphere each morning so that the students could read books.

18. 유보(하다)

The company decided to defer the conclusion about whether the new drug they created was effective.

19. 의심(하다)

Seeing the man look somewhere else and not answer when spoken to, I began to suspect he was the criminal.

20. 인정(하다) ☆

When people kept asking him with doubts, the man admitted that he had lied.

21. 제기(하다) ☆

There was a problem with the boss' decision, but nobody raised the issue.

22. 제시(하다) ☆

My teacher suggested a way to be able to speak Korean well.

23. 제안(하다) ☆

My class suggested a soccer match to the students in another class.

EXAM TIP ▲

Let's review similar words used to express opinions.

- 제기(하다): Usually used when expressing negative opinions like problems or complaints.
e.g. 친구는 학교의 문제점을 제기했다. My friend brought up the problems with the school.
- 제시(하다): Usually used when talking about a reason or method of doing something.
e.g. 친구는 내 고민을 듣고 해결책을 제시했다. My friend listened to my worries and suggested solutions.
- 제안(하다): Usually used when discussing new opinions or content.
e.g. 친구는 다음 주에 여행을 가자고 제안했다. My friend suggested that we go on a trip next week.

24. 존중(하다) ☆

My mother always respects her children's opinions.

25. 주장(하다) ☆

The man claimed that he wasn't the one who took the wallet.

26. 지적(하다) ☆

My professor pointed out the incorrect information on the presentation I made.

27. 찬성(하다)

Since my classmates all approved, we decided to begin the new rules starting from tomorrow.

28. 평가(하다) ☆

My friend evaluates everything about a person after seeing just their face.

29. 표하다

The consumers expressed their complaints about the same item being different prices depending on the store.

30. 허락(하다)

My teacher made us speak only in Korean during class, but gave us permission to speak English during breaks.

EXAM TIP ▲

Let's review similar vocabulary words.

- 허락(하다): Used in situations in which permission is given to do anything, including in daily life.
e.g. 부모님께서 여자 친구와 결혼을 허락하셨다. My parents gave me permission to marry my girlfriend.
- 허가(하다): Frequently used in situations in which permission is given to do something within the law or a set of rules.
e.g. 학교의 허가를 받지 않은 사람들은 학교에 들어갈 수 없다. People who don't receive permission from the school cannot go inside.