

01. 개발(하다) ☆

Our team started developing a new product.

02. 검토(하다)

The development schedule for the new product will be decided after the boss examines the files.

03. 경영(하다)

My friend didn't get a job after graduating college and instead made a small company that he's managing himself.

EXAM TIP ▲

A “경영주 (business owner)” refers to the “owner (주인)” who runs the company.

04. 근무(하다)

At Korean companies, people usually work from 9 am to 6 pm.

05. 기업 ☆

My grandfather ran a small neighborhood shop, and business went well and it became a big corporation with a lot of employees.

06. 기여(하다)

Each year, our company chooses 5 employees who contributed to the company's development and gives them an award and prize money.

07. 기획(하다) ☆

Lately, my team has meetings every day for advertisement planning for the new product.

08. 담당(하다) ☆

I'm in charge of export work at a trading company.

09. 동료

When I was a new employee, my co-workers taught me a lot and helped me out, so I was able to adapt quickly to the company.

10. 맡다 ☆

I took on running the company event with Manager Kim.

11. 보고(하다) ☆

I have to report to the boss on the customer response to the new product.

12. 복사(하다)

Because 4 team members are participating in today's meeting, I made 4 copies of the report.

13. 부서

I want to work in the department that plans new products.

BACKGROUND KNOWLEDGE ▲

Let's review company departments.

- 기획 Planning: Analyzes current outcomes and plans the company's future.
- 인사 Personnel: Hires and manages employees. Also creates a good company culture.
- 재무, 회계 Finance, Accounting: Manages resources necessary for administration. Organizes corporate investment and management information, etc.
- 영업/마케팅 Sales/Marketing: Sells the company's products or services.

14. 부여(하다)

The manager assigned important work to our team.

15. 비즈니스

I'm going on a business trip to China next week for business purposes.

16. 사원

Our company gives gifts and bonuses to all employees on holidays.

BACKGROUND KNOWLEDGE ▲

Let's learn about position and rank in Korean offices.

When a new employee enters a company, their position is 사원 and they're usually called by their name + 씨 within the company. When they're promoted from 사원, they become a 대리. From this point on, they are often called by their name and position together, such as "김 대리님." After 대리 come the positions of 과장, 차장, 부장, etc. As this rank system usually differs by office, it's good to memorize the general order.

17. 설립(하다)

Our company is establishing a factory abroad in order to cultivate business overseas.

18. 성과

When sales of the new product went well, the boss acknowledged and praised the planning team's results.

19. 수행(하다)

The employees dispatched overseas are carrying out work for 1 year to assess the situation of the economy and market in each country.

20. 신속(하다)

The product warranty department quickly responds to customer's inquiries in order to eliminate customer complaints.

21. 업무 ☆

Lately I have a lot of work so I leave the office late every day.

22. 옮기다 ☆

As soon as I graduated, I got a job at a small company and built up work experience, and I recently moved to a conglomerate.

23. 작성(하다) ☆

After the planning meeting for the new product ended, I wrote up the content of the meeting in a report.

24. 제출(하다)

The product proposal must be submitted to the team leader by next Monday.

25. 조직(하다)

In organizations called companies, work is important, but forging good relationships with the colleagues you work with is also important.

26. 지시(하다)

The boss directed us to start development of the new product after reviewing the report.

27. 지위

A person in a high position at a company has to make important decisions and know how to take responsibility for them.

28. 직장 ☆

The work I'm doing now is so hard that I want to move to a different job.

29. 참석(하다) ☆

Since they say the boss is also attending the next meeting, I'm working hard to prepare the meeting.

30. 퇴직(하다)

My father joined Company A and worked for 30 years, and retired this year.

31. 홍보(하다) ☆

In order to promote the new product, our company decided on using the singers BTS, who are famous abroad as well, as models.